1. About the Campus Card

The Campus Card is your student ID at the Darmstadt University of Applied Sciences. You will receive it by the start of your studies and need to revalidate it each semester using a revalidation device at the Darmstadt University of Applied Sciences, so that it is valid for the new semester.

Further and more precise information about the Campus Card can be found online at <https://h-da.com/student-services/campus-card/>.

2. Prerequisites

You need to own a Campus Card and need to be re-registered for the current or upcoming semester. If you lost your Card or need further information, please see <https://h-da.com/student-services/campus-card/>.

3. Timing

When you receive your Campus Card in the first semester, it is already validated. Therefore, you have to revalidate the Campus Card for the first time at the start of the second semester. Revalidation can be done once you re-registered by paying the semester fees.

4. Revalidation process

For the revalidation of the Campus Card you need to go to a revalidation device to have the card reprinted. On the revalidation device there is an explanation of how to insert the card so that the special thermal-rewritable stripes can be reprinted onto the Campus Card.

You can see where the revalidation devices are located on the map shown at the end of this document.

5. Contact for further questions

Answers to frequently asked questions are available online at www.h-da.de/studium/studienorganisation/campuscard/haeufige-fragen (German Language only).

For all further questions you can contact the Student Service Center of the Darmstadt University of Applied Sciences. Contact details can be found via <https://h-da.com/student-services/campus-card/>.
